Indications Are That Germans Will Leave France No Choice
But To Accept or Reject Their Terms—Germans Continue
Advance Between Mouth of Loire River and Rhone Valley

(By International News Service)

BERLIN, June 21—Armistice conversation between Germany and France began in the Compiègne region at 10 a. m., daylight time, a German Foreign Office spokesman said today.

An official communique on the conference is expected during the afternoon and probably will be followed by announcement of German terms of the armistice. It was indicated that Germany will leave the French no choice but to accept or reject the German terms.

It was not yet known, however, whether the French Ambassador has the authority to accept the German terms on the spot or whether acceptance will depend upon explicit approval of the French government.

Meanwhile, it was stated authoritatively, German sources are encountering virtually no French resistance, excepting from 3 rings of the Maginot Line. At these points, it was claimed the French have been "firmly encircled" and have no chance of breaking through the German lines.

LONDON, June 21—A German radio broadcast today stated that Chancellor Hitler met the French peace ambassador in Compiègne Forest.

This was the first mention that Hitler personally would play a role in the presentation of German peace terms to the French.

CHANCELLOR HITLER'S HEADQUARTERS, June 21—Continuing German advances between the mouth of the Loire River and the Rhone Valley and capture of Lyon were announced by the Germans today.

The communique stated: "Troop movement for occupation of the Normandy-Brethene area between the mouth of the Loire and the Rhone Valley continued according to plans. Motorized troops advancing through Burgundy took Lyon after a battle."

"Seven hundred new tanks were captured when Nevois was taken. In Alsace and Lorraine mopping up parts of the Maginot Line against troops, some of which are fighting stubbornly, is progressing."

Fighting and bombing squads yesterday attacked ships at the mouth of the Gironde and sank one transport of 10,000 tons and an auxiliary warship of 4,000 tons.

Bristol Druggist Is Named To Committee

Vacation Bible School To Commence Next Monday

The Daily Vacation Bible School will begin on Monday morning in the Presbyterian Church of Our Saviour, Wood street, and Lincoln avenue, and it will continue every morning from nine to 12 o'clock for three weeks.

The teachers will be: Miss Gergette Ruth Clavarella, Miss Dora Thompson, Carl A. Castor, Mrs. Andrew G. Solla, and Dr. Andrew G. Solla.

The program will consist of Bible memory work, Bible stories, hymn singing and manual training.

The school, as usual, will not be restricted to members of the church, but all children from four years of age on will be welcomed. In the years past, practically all the churches of the town have had some of their children attending, and representatives of many denominations are expected this year.

Sentenced To Reformatory

Doylestown, June 21—Norman Schemley, 16, Mill street, was today sentenced to Huntingdon Reformatory for an indeterminate sentence by Judge Hiram H. Keller, sitting at a session of juvenile court.

Schemley confessed robbing the Ballow shoe store and also Smith's Model Shop in May. After being arrested by the Bristol police, Schemley agreed to return the money which he said he had hidden beneath a bridge. He was released by the police and never returned with the money. He was later arrested by Atlantic City, returned to Bristol, and confessed three robberies of the two places.

Judge Keller also sentenced today Daniel Bezanis, 17, Willington street, Philadelphia, Bezanis was sent to the Huntingdon Reformatory for an indeterminate term. He was implicated in robbing the V & D warehouse at Bristol.

To Watch for Planes

Washington (Exclusive), June 21—Mobilization of a huge army of civilian volunteers to watch for enemy airplane attacks on the United States is contemplated by the war department, it was learned today.

Because of shortage of anti-aircraft guns and limited military personnel, part of the civilian populace must be utilized to warn the army of approaching hostile air fleets, officials admitted.

War department officials reported that plans for setting up civilian anti aircraft defense units in nearly all sections of the country are in the hands of nine army corps commanders. Major emphasis will be placed on the northeastern Atlantic coastal area and territory along the Gulf of Mexico and Texas border.

Branded As War Party

Philadelphia, June 21—Republican convention leaders today asserted that President Roosevelt's creation of a coalition cabinet had given the G. O. P. a new major "war issue" for the 1940 campaign even before there is any agreement on the presidential nominee.

The President's appointment of two Republican "interventionists"—Henry L. Stimson as Secretary of War, and Col. Frank Knox as Secretary of Navy—was hailed by Republicans as branding the Democratic party as the "war party."

It also was being credited with pushing the Republican party away from an "aid the Allies" platform toward a mild isolationist stand on international affairs.

The immediate reaction by the GOP was to "expel" Stimson and Knox from the party. This was done when the Republican National Committee unanimously approved a statement by GOP chairman John Hamilton declaring Stimson and Knox can no longer speak for the Republican party. Knox meanwhile resigned as an Illinois delegate to the convention.

LENORE ULRIC COMING TO BUCKS PLAYHOUSE

To Have Leading Role in Hilarious Comedy, "Personal Appearance"

OPENS ON MONDAY

Lenore Ulric, glamorous star of the American theatre, appears at the Bucks County Playhouse, New Hope, Monday night, enacting the leading role in the hilarious comedy hit, "Personal Appearance," which will be performed all next week.

Miss Ulric, famed for her portrayals of "Kiki," "Lulu Belle," "Mima," and scores of other successes, will play Carole Arden, a movie queen, whose ogling antics provide much of the comedy's uproarious laughter. "Personal Appearance," by Lawrence Riley, was one of Broadway's most recent light comedy hits. It will be the second production of the New Hope summer season, which opened before a gala premiere audience last Saturday night.

In the cast with Miss Ulric will be Louis Calhern, who portrays her harassed press agent, Thomas Coley, who recently completed a Paramount Pictures contract, portrays a young gasoline station attendant who becomes the object of Miss Ulric's amorous attentions when her car breaks down near Scranton, Pa. Haila Stoddard and Morton L. Stevens, Natalie Schafer, Frieda Altman and Jack Geary lend their comic talents to the gaydoes of the evening. Phyllis Dobson, attractive young ingenue who was popular last season with New Hope audiences, returns to the Playhouse, cast in "Personal Appearance" after appearing with Tallulah Bankhead in "The Little Foxes" in New York and on tour. Miss Florence Dunlap will perform the role of Miss Stoddard's mother, which she created in the original New York production of "Personal Appearance."

Becky Gardiner, widely known Hollywood scenarist who is on leave of absence from MGM where she wrote some of the most successful scenarios of the past decade, will enact a small role in "Personal Appearance." Miss Gardiner, a former actress, who lives at Churchville, is also conducting a weekly radio program with the Playhouse stars.

Carter Blake will stage the New Hope farce bill, which will have settings by Edwin Schnuers.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

"Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc."

Blocking A Truce

Washington, June 20. SOME of our most eminent and patriotic publicists are again calling for an "absolute truce" in politics. Only by nonpartisan cooperation among the leaders of the two parties, it is argued, can our national effort to arm ourselves be effectively made or the emergency, which grows graver as the German menace grows greater, be dealt with intelligently.

NEARLY everybody will agree with that. Nearly everybody will concede that this is no time for personal or party politics; that it is time when, in the national interests, public men should put

Miss Lightcap pointed out that although the picnic will begin at noon next Wednesday and continue until "when" a supper will be served at six o'clock and Republicans who can not get there before that time will still have an opportunity to eat and take part in the events.

There will be refreshments and games, and children, who are accompanied by their parents, will be admitted free.

The poultry receipts at the auction sale of Rice Brothers, this week, totaled $1,952.25.

Poultry sales were heavy, and top price was approximately two cents a pound higher than usual. The rate in general for barred rock pullets was 26 cents per pound.

Between 1800 and 2000 persons attended the sale, which was featured by the disposal of almost 170 head of hogs. Slightly over 200 head had been offered. Proceeds of the entire sale were $352.09.

Under direction of Carl H. Pottenger, Newtown, a class of 20 men, who are taking pistol instruction, as part of the Bucks County Police Academy training, meet every Tuesday evening at the Edison Range for practice. The men will receive qualifying medals at the completion of the course.

Members of Quakertown Chapter, No. 655, Women of the Moose, on Tuesday evening installed the officers of Doylestown Chapter, No. 125, Women of the Moose, at the Moose Home, Doylestown. About 60 women attended the ceremonies.

Mrs. Anna Lowmes, of near Newtown, was installed new senior regent of the Doylestown Chapter. Mrs. Louise McMullen, Newtown, is the retiring past senior regent.

Navy Enlistments Show An Increase In Area

Thomas V. Robbins, chief boat-swain's mate, U. S. Navy, announces that there has been a decided increase in applications for enlistments in the Navy during the past two weeks.

It was stated that this was mostly due to the large number of high school graduates who are entering the Navy for a career. More than 50 different grades are taught, and these young men have the opportunity to specialize not only in trade but in about 14 other vocations.

Chief Robbins calls at the local post office every Thursday between 10:30 a. m. and 12 noon.

Interested young men of good character, between 18 and 31 years of age, are invited to call at the above time. Literature has been left at the post office and can be had upon request.

Contributors To July 4th Fund

A fund is being raised through public subscription to defray the expenses of an Americanism demonstration which is to be held here on July 4th. The purpose of the demonstration is to inculcate the principles of America into the youth of this area and to develop a greater reverence for those things which are sacred to America and its institutions. This is the second annual celebration to be sponsored by the Committee which last year had a balance remaining, which with interest earned, amounts to $357.66.

The Flag Goes By

Hats off!
Along the street there comes
A blare of bagles, a ruffle of drums,
A flash of color beneath the sky:
Hats off!
The flag is passing by!

Blue and crimson and white it shines,
Over the steel-tipped, ordered lines,
Hats off!
The colors before us fly:
But more than the flag is passing
by:

Sea-fights and land-fights, grim and great,
Fought to make and save the State:

Wearry marches and sinking ships;
Cheers of victory on dying lips;
Days of plenty and years of peace;
March of a strong land's swift increase;

Equal justice, right and law,
Stately honor and reverend awe;
Sign of a nation, great and strong
To ward her people from foreign wrong;

Pride and glory and honor—all
Live in the colors to stand or fall.
Hats off!
Along the street there comes
A blare of bagles, a ruffle of
drums;
And loyal hearts are beating high:
Hats off!
The flag is passing by!

A summation of the tentative program for Independence Day celebration here shows a full and complete program now being arranged. With "Americanism" as the theme, the committee is now busy completing the details which are necessary to insure the public a fine affair.

The public is responding to the appeal for funds, and while many have contributed there are still many who have not as yet donated. The committee desires that as many contributions as possible be made within the next day or two, as certain arrangements depend upon the amount of money collected.

An outline of what the committee now plans will be given in the next day or two, and from this it will be seen that a program in keeping with the day, as well as one appropriate to the great crisis through which the world is passing, will be given.

"Keep your mind on America" is a slogan adopted by the committee and which expresses the idea back of the planned celebration about as well as it could be expressed. It is the desire of the committee that Americans particularly keep their minds on America, and do all that they can to help those

Shallow Dive Results In Possible Broken Neck

MORRISVILLE, June 21—A possible fracture of the neck was sustained by Michael Patrick, 21, of Steamboat street, Trenton, N. J., in a shallow dive at gravel pits near here.

The young man is in St. Francis Hospital, Trenton, N. J.

Patrick, together with two chums, William Polite and Walter Schwartz, both of Trenton, were participating in a late evening swim, when the severe injury occurred.

Polite and Schwartz pulled Patrick from the pit, placed him in a car and hurried with him to the hospital.

Foot Frontage

PLANS AT HARRISBURG

Expectation Is To House
Grades 7 and 8 for Next
Term; Others Later

With plans in the offing for erection of a junior-senior high school, the school district of Bristol Township has purchased a tract of over 18 acres on Rodgers Road, adjoining what has recently become known as Winder Village.

The purchase price was $3300, the plot having a frontage of 1100 feet on Rodgers Road, and measuring over 700 feet in depth.

As soon as plans, now at Harrisburg are approved by state school officials, work will be started on the proposed building, which by late Fall will house pupils of seventh and eighth grades. Students of grade nine and also those of higher grades will continue at other high schools in this area for the 1940-41 term. Thus for next school term, Continued on Page Three

Birthday Party Given For Miss Irene Sharp

Miss Evelyn Streeter, Roosevelt street, entertained on Wednesday evening, in honor of the birthday anniversary of Miss Irene Sharp, Harrison street.

The evening was spent playing games and dancing. The rooms were decorated in pink and white, also balloons. The hostess served refreshments.

Guests were: the Misses Muriel Hutchinson, Emma Sharp, Doris Vasey, Wilhelmina Peters, Messrs. Joseph Quigley, Howard Hellings, Joseph Frazier, Joseph Classmire, Gary Cooper, Milton Miller, Mrs. Sara McCoy, Mrs. Stephen Adams, Mrs. Thomas Sharp, Mrs. John Sharp, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sharp.

Father and Small Child Struck By An Automobile

A father and his three-year-old son, the latter being pulled in a small wagon, were struck by an automobile as they traversed Otter street near where it joins the highway, last evening.

The injured are: Robert McBrien, Maple street, brush burns and contusions; and the small son, contusions. They were treated at the office of Dr. H. Doyle Webb, and returned to their home.

The operator of the automobile took the two to the physician, Officer Reeser, of Oxford Valley barracks, investigated.

Red Cross Workers Here Continue Their Activities

At a meeting of American Red Cross held in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia, Tuesday, at which two representatives from Bristol were in attendance, it was learned from Mrs. Thomas Potter that it is easier to organize an army than to equip it.

Mrs. Potter referred to the material prepared for the various Branches of Red Cross in the Southeastern Chapter, of which there are 50, with 200 auxiliaries. Garments are cut out by volunteers in their spare hours after their own day's work is finished; one day's work being considered the cutting out of 3700 garments. In the surgical dressing department, of which there are 75 groups, with 3531 workers, 75,599 dressings have been made.

The women of Bristol have contributed to the great number of necessities and will continue to do so.

The Red Cross will keep up contact with societies who have consented to distribute all supplies sent to their country. The supplies to Finland have been held up and now reach that land by way of an Arctic port. Four million refugees in France is an additional problem. The Friends Service Agency, under Ann Morgan, is doing valiant service. Two million dollars alone has been spent for food for the refugees in France, England, with so many extra people, faces the problem of food. Of the cities of the Union, Philadelphia at present stands sixth in the amount of its quota raised.

At Mill and Wood streets there will be a lemonade booth, in charge of Irene Bernard, who, beginning June 26th, with several companions, will serve lemonade, the proceeds to go to Red Cross. Interested friends will contribute all materials necessary to make the beverage.

SACRAMENT OF BAPTISM

The sacrament of holy baptism was administered on Sunday at St. Paul's Chapel, Edgely, with the vicar, the Rev. Louis E. Fifer, III, officiating. Shirley Constance Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Nichols, and Edward Bush, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bush, were received into the Church during the ceremony. The parents and Mrs. William Subers were sponsors for Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hopkins and Mrs. Louis Dunbar were sponsors for young Edward.

IT'S HERE

It is here, officially and unofficially. Technically, from now on the days will start on the long journey to winter, although nobody but calendar sharps will realize it until August and September bring full understanding. Let it suffice that summer is here.

School closing has no such fixed date, but for the youngsters the worst is over. Examinations as a general scourge have lost much of their terror for the "C" rankers; they are rarely terribly concerned, anyhow. As a class they are inclined to fall back on the often fallacious argument that "the C group are the ones who get farther ahead in later life." Not always true, by any means, but a comforting alibi. As for the A group, they are in a fine place, anyhow, so what should they care?

The main point is that summer is here, with all its connotations and implications. The water—ocean or lake or river—beckons to young and old alike. The cool airs of higher levels are there for the seeking. Much will be heard for the next few months of the stifling city streets and many persons (especially husbands and fathers) will continue to travel them. The typical American in summer is the man who has sent his family "away" while he stays on the job—not always protesting, as there are lots of things to amuse if one is a "summer widower."

There is little to be done about it anyway. Summer is here. Make the most of it.

SUMMER WARNING

The silly season is here, the season when human beings go out into the country-side and throw lighted cigarette butts into dry grass when a heavy picnic lunch is the prelude to an icy plunge, when vacationists hurl themselves vacationward at death-defying speeds on the public highways, when bicyclists by the dozens wheel along main roads in complete oblivion to any other traffic, when uninstructed children and adults sit happily among clumps of poison ivy, when—in short—the great outdoors tempts people to all kinds of folly.

It may be true that the majority of accidents happen in the home, but summer outings provide a long list of casualties each year. The bicycle problem will always remain because of the anomalous position the bicycle occupies on the roads today. There is hope, nevertheless, that an active educational campaign can remove many hazards caused by carelessness and a lack of understanding of the rules of the road.

Perhaps it is too much to hope that for the balance of the summer common sense will temper hot weather enthusiasm. But it is perfectly possible to enjoy the good things of summer without taking foolish risks.

"The day war is declared, the military caste will take over Germany, and Hitler will evaporate," said the clairvoyant, gazing into what must have been a cheap crystal.

Oklahoma wonders why the Government cuts down trees in the Grand River basin while planting them on the Cimarron dunes. As FDR says, we are on our way, and in all directions.

Of course the situation in Europe is blood-curdling, but did you ever listen in on a radio drummer?

The Great Game of Politics

facts, why do those who now cry for an "absolute truce" not point out that the thing which more than all else stands in the way is the scheme of the White House politicians to put Mr. Roosevelt over for a third term and Mr. Roosevelt's encouragement of the scheme? Why do they not point out that these New Deal strategists are calculating using the emergency to further their plans and crush out all opposition to the third nomination? Why not tell the people the fact that back of the Presidential handling of our foreign problems his highly approved aides are busy handling domestic politics with the idea of keeping him in his job and themselves in theirs?

WHY not tell them that this by no means is being done without Mr. Roosevelt's knowledge or approval; that while civilization is crashing abroad he has found time to discuss the details of the Democratic convention, possible candidates for the Vice-Presidency and who ought to be the temporary chairman? Why not point out that his conferences with the machine bosses of Chicago and New York and his appointment of Mr. Cromwell as Minister to Canada right after the unsavory New Jersey boss, Mr. Hague, had come out for a third term, was done with full knowledge that Mr. Hague intended to nominate Mr. Cromwell for the Senate? And that that is susceptible of but one interpretation?

AT this moment members of his Brain Trust are engaged on their preliminary platform work and devising ideas to make the "draft" seem convincing. The more blatant among the jobholders—Mr. Ickes, for example—offensively insist that our democratic processes might as well be suspended and no election held at all. This is the sort of thing that is going on in New Deal circles in Washington, and every posted person knows it. Under the circumstances, it seems unrealistic to call for an "absolute truce" in politics without calling on Mr. Roosevelt to renounce his third-term ambitions and put a stop to the partisan political activity of his most intimate friends.

IT seems, too, that it might be pertinent and helpful if those who want an absolute truce would point out that, with foreign dictators threatening the existence of the democracies, this is particularly not the time to undermine the oldest American political tradition, established many years ago by men who desired to avert a tendency toward dictatorship. Nor is it a time to foster the utterly undemocratic theory of the Indispensable Man. Rather, it is the finest opportunity presented in 150 years to reaffirm that great tradition and thus strengthen the American system.

UP to now the Republicans have shown no disposition to play politics with the vital business of national defense. On the contrary, they have voted solidly for every Presidential request and have resisted only the Roosevelt effort to have Congress adjourn, which has been denounced by many Democratic papers as most unwise, indicative of the desire of Mr. Roosevelt to make national defense a one-man job. Considering all these things, it does seem clear that if the "absolute truce" is to be obtained, it is in Mr. Roosevelt's power to obtain it by doing two things: First, renounce his third-term ambition and put an end to the political activity of his friends; second, disclose fully his plan and policies.

IT is not unreasonable to ask Mr. Roosevelt to do these things. It is far more unreasonable for him not to do them. And it is utterly unreasonable to talk about an absolute truce in politics without insisting upon his doing them. If the work of national defense is to be hampered by a lack of national unity; if the American effort of the next five months is to be smeared with politics and slowed down by a bitter political campaign, the responsibility will rest squarely upon him—and upon no one else. It is the politics he himself is playing which makes it impossible for those who want to co-operate on foreign policy to do so wholeheartedly. This is so plain that it seems a pity not to say so when urging an abandonment of politics.

"Flying Blind" by VERA BROWN

SYNOPSIS

The national air races are about to start. In the stand, Judith Aimes reviles herself for having quarreled with her husband, Tex, one of the contestants, that morning. What if something happens to him? Her nerves are on edge. The fears of her companion, Elsie Stone, for her own flyer husband, Marvin, further aggravate Judith. So it is with relief that she accepts Lee Holt's invitation to join him in a cup of coffee before he enters "The Greve," the event before Tex's. It is a secret that Lee is fond of Judith. She inquires about Tex. Lee tells her everything is fine but his evident uneasiness disturbs her. He did not mention that he had found Tex sitting in his car with Sonia Winthrop, wealthy aviatrix... Tex who usually was so temperamental that he wanted no one to even speak to him before a race! Back in her seat, Judith sees Lee Holt win his race. It is now time for the big event, Judith, watching Tex's ship jockey into position, overhears these girls chattering about Sonia and Tex: "Sonny had a date with him last night and he's coming to her party tonight. He's crazy about her, but then everybody is." Judith stiffened. So that was what had been wrong with Lee.

CHAPTER THREE

They were off! Six brittle, incredibly fast planes out to set new world's records! Reporters covering the race, rushed to the back of the stand. In seconds the ships were on the back stretch. Judith could not bring herself to see. Her knees would not have carried her. She sat there waiting, waiting. It seemed hours those short minutes before the racers wheeled into view, dove on the home pylon for the second lap. They came in a deafening roar above the corner of the grandstand. Four of them! They were bunched together. Their wing tips seemed to touch, so close were they flying, fighting for the lead. As they reached the pylon in front of the stand, they were suddenly stacked one above the other—a house of cards! It was breath-taking.

A murmur ran over the grandstands, an intake of 100,000 breaths! Victory III was on top of the huddle. The other two ships were crowding fast on the first four. A great race! Marvin was coming up. As they disappeared to the left, the first five fanned out on the second pylon and were lost to view.

Judith knew Tex hadn't opened up "Victory." Not yet. It was too early in the race. Elsie was babbling, she was so excited. The palms of Judith's hands were damp as she slumped down to wait... for the next time around. Wait! It seemed all her life she had been doing that. She tried not to think of Sonia Winthrop. Not now! She'd think about that later.

The three girls sitting next to her had rushed to the back of the press platform to see what they could of what was going on at the back pylons. Their excited cries mingled with the click of telegraph instruments. The time was being given on the loud speaker. Judith could not seem to concentrate on it. But it was not a record-breaking lap, she gathered. Then the ships came swooping again. This time they fanned out on the home pylon. Tex was crowding neatly ahead flying wide. Marvin was up there this time. Third place, clearly.

Judith's ears seemed to go dead, so hard did she listen for the sound of Tex's motor. It seemed to be functioning perfectly. A roar went up. Just beyond the pylon something went wrong with one of the ships.

There was a puff of smoke. Judith went blind for a moment, like buck fever, until she could focus and see it was not Tex. It was Jim Barnes! She hardly bothered as the disabled racing ship shot up over the far part of the airport of the course and prepared to land. What did it matter? It wasn't Tex! A cruel game, yes.

Then a ripple of sound went over the 100,000. Men in the press box rushed to the back, standing on chairs, binoculars gripped to eyes. Something had gone wrong on one of those back pylons.

"Who is it?" There was a babble of voices.

He put the two girls into his car. They were away at break-neck speed. Elsie's thin voice was hysterical: "He's not hurt, is he? Judith, tell me! The man said it was just a forced landing."

Judith could not answer her. Just a forced landing on one of those ships doing better than 300 miles an hour at two hundred feet above the ground! They could hear sirens blazing. The ambulance. Elsie stiffened. "He's hurt!" She began beating on the back of the chauffeur. "Take me to him. Take me to him!"

Judith put her arm about the frantic girl. "We're going to him now. Sit quietly, darling. He'd want you to do that."

The chauffeur had evidently had his orders. He turned into Brook Park Road on two wheels. At the next corner they picked up a motor cycle officer. Judith could not hear what the chauffeur said to him but, with the motor cycle in the lead, they started.

"Where is he taking us?" Elsie asked.

"To Lake Side Hospital," Judith was thinking fast. They might as well go there. And, of course, Judith could not be sure. Marvin might be alive. Poor Elsie! If he were, he'd be so horribly hurt he'd be better off dead!

Will Advertising Do Me Any Good?

Certainly, madam! Let us answer your question by pointing out some of the things advertising already has done for you and your family.

Advertising has given you new and better food, trade-marked to guarantee quality. It has brought you the pleasure of movies...made your automobile comfortable and safe...and given you labor-saving devices in your home.

Through advertising you have learned where and what to buy to save money. As a result of nationwide sales, possible only through the power of advertising, great laboratories and factories have been developed...giving you higher quality merchandise while prices have come rapidly lower. Hence, advertising has opened the door to developments which have freed you from kitchen drudgery...saved you from fatigue of long hours of washing, cleaning, baking.

Advertising has a direct effect on your income in two ways. First, you buy more for your money because large-scale manufacturing, possible only when advertising delivers quantity sales, brings prices down. Second, your income is larger because advertising makes jobs...and when jobs are plentiful all incomes are higher.

To eliminate advertising is to destroy American enterprise and the American Way of Living.

"Keep Your Mind On America," Is Theme

who are not native to this soil to keep their minds on America.

These are busy days, and as people rush about many are prone to forget some of the things which should be very sacred. Some of the foreign countries have forgotten some things, and as a result those with subversive tendencies have undermined the very foundations on which such countries were founded and developed. Will the people of America forget? They may, unless something is being done constantly to remind them that there are traditions and principles which are sacred, and that Americans have much to be thankful for.

Will you be one, the committee asks, to impress upon those who are prone to forget, or who do not have a proper appreciation for that which is embodied in the word "Americanism," those things for which America stands and to which the true American will be loyal?

A prize-winning essayist of today sums up her appreciation of the traditional American ideals in the following words:

"I bless America because I am master of my own destiny and future. I have access to the writings and knowledge of the great minds of all lands and times whether they are 'Aryan' or not. In America where free speech is an accepted fact, I can listen to all shades of opinion and am free to form my own judgments. I can disagree with the highest officials of our land without fear of the concentration camp or firing squad.

"I bless America because I know that all problems, if they are at all soluble, can only be solved by the free and unhampered application of the intelligent thought of mankind, and because in America, of all the lands of the world, this freedom of thought is the inalienable right of all."

But even today, with the danger signals flying for us as they never flew before, it is possible to sense a feeling of false security in this summation of blessings. Our blessings should include at the moment a realization on the part of young and old of the threats to our "inalienable rights." Only an awareness to danger can insure this freedom we take for granted.

only grades seven and eight will be moved from other buildings in Bristol Township, affording better accommodations in grade buildings, which have been greatly congested.

Although the site has been secured by the district with the idea of in time having a well-equipped junior-senior high school, that is a dream of future years. For the present the junior high group will be concentrated upon, with the grades seven and eight accommodated next year, and grade nine possibly by the 1941-42 term.

The structure which is planned, will be of brick, one story in height. The number of the building, have not as yet been determined upon. All hinges approval by state education authorities.

The sale was consummated through Otto Group, Jr., realtor. The portion of land bought by the school district is located on the east side of Rodgers Road, a short distance from Newport Road.

Building operations will get underway just as soon as plans are approved, and bids let.

LOOKING FORWARD

By Franklyn Waltman

Publicity Director, Republican National Committee

Not even the present serious situation which exists in regard to American national defense deters or slows down the New Deal's Socialistic fifth column. Indeed, nothing deters these New Deal radicals; nothing occurs which they do not attempt to turn to their advantage.

No sooner had it become apparent that the New Deal had woefully neglected American national defense than the Socialistic planners in the New Deal undertook to use this situation to further their seven-year-old private property and enterprise to plan of subjecting more and more of Government ownership and operation.

Wrapping their nefarious scheme in the robes of patriotism, the New Deal planners moved to drive the biggest nail yet hammered into American private enterprise. As the President pointed out that our national defense needs would cost billions of dollars in the next year or two, his red-tinged aides pointed out that this would necessitate considerable plant expansion in the fields of machine tools, aviation and armor plate manufacture.

Subtly, they also pointed out it would be unfair to expect business to make huge investments for expansions that might be needed only two or three years. This solicitude for business was so rare as to make suspicious anyone familiar with the views of the White House janissaries.

What should be done? Ah, said the New Deal planners—who have an answer for everything—the Federal Treasury will advance the money to build the additional industrial plant that is needed. Let the manufacturers pay the Government a nominal interest and depreciation charge while such property is used for making needed armaments and then, if need be, default.

But what then? Does not the manufacturer run the risk of losing all his property when he defaults on the loan when the expanded facilities are no longer needed? That easily can be arranged, say the New Dealers, by setting up subsidiary corporations to which the Government loan is made. When the loan is defaulted, the Government will take over only the property of the emergency subsidiary corporation.

An innocent enough appearing proposal, is it not? But no more Machiavellian scheme was ever proposed in American politics—no more deceptive Trojan Horse ever sought entry through the gates of a citadel. Once that scheme is put into operation, that day will surely mark the beginning of the end of American private enterprise.

Why? Well, what do you suppose the Federal Government would do with the industrial plants it takes over after the need for rush preparedness passes? It is naive to suggest that this property would be left idle, especially if the same Socialistically-minded crowd now in control in Washington still holds the reins of government.

The answer is that the Government would undertake to operate such property, in competition with the industrialists who defaulted on their loans. Remember Muscle Shoals. It commenced as a war-time project to produce nitrates under Woodrow Wilson. It was used as the excuse for the present T. V. A. power project by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

There is a perfect example of how the thing would work—except this time it would be on a much broader scale. The Government would be operating machine tool factories, airplane factories, truck and automobile factories and steel plants—and it would be operating them with patents and processes of private companies against which it would be competing. What is now proposed was not inspired to promote national defense—it was proposed to promote the Socialistic plans which many New Dealers have sought to advance for seven years in one form or another. It is another chapter in the scheme outlined a year ago to the Anti-Monopoly Committee by Assistant Secretary of State Adolf A. Berle, Jr.

You will recall that Mr. Berle let the cat out of the bag when he frankly told his committee that we were heading directly into Socialism. He contended that if we were to survive as a Nation, the Government must spend more money—that "if wealth is to be created by creation of Government debt the scope of Government enterprise must be largely increased"—that "the Government will have to enter into the direct financing of activities now supposed to be private and a continuance of that direct financing must be inevitable that the Government ultimately will control and own these activities" and finally that "over a period of years the Government will gradually come to own most of the productive plants of the United States."

There is the plan in a nut-shell. Government loans in connection with armament production now would be a wide step toward its execution. Mr. Berle knows that. So do the other New Deal planners. Business has suddenly awakened to the Trojan Horse waiting at its gate.

What is needed in the present situation is not Government loans. The banks are bulging with idle money. Business can borrow at the lowest rates in history. What is needed is a revision of the Federal tax laws and Federal fiscal policy to permit business to write-off within three or four years the capital invested in expansions necessitated by this emergency. Let that be done and business will do the expanding without any danger of destroying the American system of private enterprise.

Make Your Car Safe

Information regarding motor vehicle inspection stations, their responsibilities to the State and the public, as a whole, and the material published herewith was taken from "Revised Instructions, Official Inspection Stations," as issued by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Steering

Examine for amount of movement measured in inches at the outside circumference of the steering wheel. The Department considers UNSAFE any movement in excess of 2 1/2 inches.

Examine for wear at the upper steering housing column bushing. Replace, if necessary.

Examine for up and down play in steering column, indicating necessary adjustment of thrust bearings or replacement of cones and bearings, if warranted.

Examine for play in cross shaft. Examine for tight fit of pitman arm on cross shaft.

Examine for tight fit of steering arm to spindle.

Examine for proper adjustment of cross tie-rod to steering arm. At this point jack up the front end and examine for wear and play in wheel bearings, spindles, pins and bushings.

Examine all steering ball joint connections for proper adjustment and lubrication.

Check front axle and steering system for proper geometry, including: Specified toe-in limits; specified caster limits; specified camber limits.

Excessive wear or errors in steering, wheels and tires will cause shimmy, train wander, or flight any of which is considered unsafe by the Department.

Wheel alignment, complete steering overhaul, and independent front wheel suspensions (knee action), is highly technical, and in the nature of specialized activity. Many stations will indicate that if such work is necessary they expect to have it done elsewhere. This will be satisfactory, provided the car is returned for inspection. The average station shall be able to handle ordinary steering adjustment and repairs.

Courier Classified Ads bring results and costs very little.

ABOUT SCOUTS AND SCOUTING

The material used in this column will be contributed by the Scribes of the following units and Scouters interested in the work: Bristol Presbyterian Church, Scout Troop 3002, Cub Pack 3002; Harriman Methodist Church, Scout Troop 3007; St. James' Episcopal Church, Scout Troop 3025, Cub Pack 3025; Group of Citizens headed by Walter Pitkonka, Troop No. 3048; Bristol B. ### THE SEVEN "AGES" OF A BOY

Woe	1-3
Knee	3-6
See	6-9
Me	9-12
We	12-15
She	15-18
Free	18-21

Strange as it may seem, there are very few boys in Scouting after they reach the "she" age.

A certain troop was analyzed and showed the following interesting facts. The period taken was from 1932 to 1937, inclusive. The average number of boys in the troop was 31. The average ages were as follows: 12 years of age, 13 boys; 13 years of age, 8 boys; 14 years of age, 6 boys; 15 years of age, 5 boys; 16 years of age, 2 boys; 17 years of age, one boy in 1933 and one boy in 1934.

When the 13 boys of twelve became a year older, 5 had dropped out; when the 8 boys of thirteen became a year older, 2 had dropped out; when the 6 boys of fourteen became a year older, 1 had dropped out; when the 5 boys of fifteen became a year older, 3 had dropped out; when the 2 boys of sixteen became a year older, they had dropped out.

From the above you can see that out of 31 boys only 2 were in Scouting at 16 years of age.

The big problem in scouting is to hold the older boy. This is being partly solved by such orders as "The Order of the Arrow," Sea Scouting, Explorer Scouting, Rover Scouts, etc.

Many Scouts come back into Scouting later on in life as Scoutmasters, Cubmasters, members of Troop Committees, etc.

Do these men realize their mistake and come back into Scouting to get the "feel" of Scouting again?

Would you like to come back? If so, there is a place in some Troop Committee for you!

MEETING OF TROOP NO. 7

The meeting of Troop No. 7, on June 14th, was presided over by the chaplain, Rev. Matthee, after which the troop news was told by Mr. Conklin, the scoutmaster. After the dues were collected, the boys played handball. The meeting was dismissed after the scout oath and law. Tests passed during the week were: Second Class thrift, Charles Bignow; First Class mapping, George Boyer; and First Class judging, Calvin Solla.

HOW TO BE YOUR OWN DECORATOR

By

Helin Koues

Director, Good Housekeeping Studio

Summer Camps & Log Cabins

If you are one of the race of summer campers (and most of us want to be at some time or other), you'll be thinking what you can do to make your camp more attractive at little or no expense or trouble. After all, a camp is a place for relaxation and enjoyment, so it should be kept easy to handle. However, my observation is, that some one in the family, usually mother, must do a little real planning and work if everyone else is to enjoy it.

HELIN KOUES
Director of
Good Housekeeping
Studio

Therefore, my suggestion is to do whatever must be done in advance of going to camp, or all at once as soon as you get there. There is nothing worse than something hanging over your head to be done. It's a subconscious nagger and you never do relax.

Perhaps the camp needs new curtains, and china and glass must be replenished. Very well then, the answer is simple for the average camper. Get bright colored plain (or possibly striped) gingham, poplin, ticking, or plain cretonne in a sturdy quality for curtains and window seat or couch bed covers. Reds, yellows, orange, deep blue, and all the family of greens are wise selections. Leave the pattern you want for gay pottery. Flowered materials and all the delightful patterned chintz, cretonne, etc., etc., are lovely in other places, but for camps—stick to checks, stripes or plain colors. The picture illustrated is a good example of why. The stone chimney has pattern, the wood walls and ceiling with its supporting beams and studs with the attractive variation of grain and color of the wood is eye arresting and is best complimented by gay red or deep plain green.

In a log cabin fabrics should be colorful but sturdy

Let the rug have a bit of pattern and a sofa pillow or two, but use conventionalized rather than floral patterns. Make the curtains functional rather than merely ornamental. So, make each curtain either double or once and a half times the width of window it is to cover when the curtains are closed at night. For there are times even in camp, when it's pouring rain, when it's cozy to pull the curtains and light the fire and sit around indoors and have "good talk"—just for contrast. Sew sturdy rings to the back of the heading an inch from the top, and hang the curtains on metal tubing or iron rods placed on simple brackets. This is the most decorative and suitable treatment, as well as the most practical. Curtains slip off rods easily when camp is closed and may be put in the campfire chest.

If you have a studio couch or camp bed, which is a sofa by day in the living room, make a sturdy cover of the same material. Just how to make it depends on type of couch. (Don't you hate people who tell you to do this or that and never say how? I do!) So I'll go further and say, if the top cover can be tucked under the mattress as on the couch in illustration, make the cover like a plain sheet with plenty of tuck-in, so that it will not rumple too easily. If your couch is a cot type minus attractive legs, then it must have a covering to the floor. In this case have the top fit the top of the mattress exactly and make a pleated or gathered ruffle with tiny heading to reach from top of mattress to floor. Unless the material is sturdy (it's wise to choose a sturdy one) it should be lined. The fullness should be one and one half times the length to be covered.

Other color accent in a camp living room may come in the plain or figured pottery exposed in corner cupboard or sideboard which presumably is at one end of room near an all purpose table for eating meals, playing games, drawing, etc.

Pansies and Violas Are Easily Grown From Seed

Pansy plants such as are sold in flower in early spring may be grown quite easily by the gardener who has a cold frame. The seed is sown in late summer in a seed bed which can be shaded and watered.

Seed of one of the giant strains should be obtained if one wants large flowers. If small flowers are preferred, the so-called tufted or Scotch pansies will do better. Violas may also be given the same treatment. All pansies are members of the viola family, but the name pansy is applied to those which have "faces."

If you have a seed bed made of fine soil shaded with a canopy of cheesecloth or lath, and which can be watered, sow the seed in rows. If you have no such seed bed prepare a flat shallow box full of sifted soil in the usual manner and sow the pansies in that. It can be placed in a shady spot and kept well watered until the seedlings appear.

In sowing spread the seed thinly. Mix sand with it if necessary to prevent overcrowding. If the seeds are too thick it will be difficult to disentangle the roots of the seedlings when time comes to move them. As soon as the seeds sprout they should be given all the light possible and plenty of fresh air. Do not let them dry out. Protect them from the mid-day sun.

When the seedlings have made their first rough leaves they should be transplanted to other flats, where they have more space, or to the cold frame. Florists usually move them to flats where they are planted 2 inches each way; this is called "pricking out." They are allowed to grow here until they are small sturdy plants. The amateur may short cut this procedure and move the seedlings directly from the seed bed or first flat to the cold frame.

Soil in the cold frame should not be overmanured, but should be light and friable and reasonably fertile. The plants should be set in rows, 4 inches apart in the rows, and 6 inches between the rows. Let the plants grow in the open through the fall until the ground begins to freeze. Then fill up the cold frame with dry leaves and cover it with the sash or boards. In severe weather the sash can be covered with straw mats or any such covering, but this is not usually needed.

In the spring as soon as frost begins to come out of the ground, the leaves should be taken off the pansy plants and the sash put on the frame. The management from now on is the same as any other planting in the spring. The pansies will bloom under the glass much earlier than they would outdoors, and you will have pansies to set out in the border when the tulips begin to bloom.

tees but could not agree on any name being exactly right. A strong feeling prevails that it should be a name in the language of the Lenape Indians with appropriate significance. A special committee has been appointed and a definite selection will be made July 1st. Have you a suggestion?

SCOUTING DAY AT WORLD'S FAIR—June 22—Purpose to commemorate Uncle Sam's 90th birthday, and a general Scouting get-together. Troops and Scouts, upon arrival, should report at the end of the Court of Peace, near the Lagoon of Nations, at 11 a. m. The program begins at 11:30. Our Troops will assemble at the high placard marked "Region Three."

CAMP WORK WEEK-ENDS—It is essential that we have help from our leadership at the new campsites over all week-ends if we are to be ready to open on July 6th as scheduled. June 22nd and 23rd is "plumbing" week-end. We need many hands to connect and place several hundred feet of pipe, etc. Work on sites will be continued also.

June 2th and 30th—General clean up, painting, erection of tentage, etc. Meals for all workers will be a nominal charge of ten cents per meal—the Council will take care of the balance.

STATE NEWS

HARRISBURG — (INS) — Manufacture of refrigerators, refrigerating systems and ice machinery, a huge State industry, has an annual production value of $50,000,000 according to a recent survey made by the State Planning Board.

The industry has 21 manufacturing plants, employing 6000 persons, with salaries totaling more than $9,000,000 a year, the survey showed.

Philadelphia has the greatest number of manufacturers, eight, while Erie County has three, and Berks County, two. Other counties in which the industry maintains plants include Allegheny, Chester, Clearfield, Franklin, Lancaster, Lehigh, Montgomery and York. The largest plant in the State is located at York.

Volunteers Make Posters
For Red Cross Activities

Using the weapons of talent, thought, and the mediums of art, The Old York Road Art Guild is mustering its resources for co-operation with the American Red Cross in flaying the suffering of the millions of over-sea refugees.

The posters made by the Art Guild and its guests for the emergency relief fund were so well received and appreciated by the American Red Cross, that it has requested posters for other phases of its work.

The art guild will supply materials to all guild members and non-members, who will donate part of their leisure time for this worthwhile work, which may be done at home.

All interested in volunteering talents and efforts may write to The Old York Road Art Guild, Health Center, Jenkintown, or leave names at the American Red Cross, 429 Johnson street, Jenkintown.

GRAND THEATRE

Johnny Apollo—college hero, banker's son—mobster!

That's the powerful role that brought Tyrone Power to the Grand Theatre last night in the drama of that title, which co-stars him with Dorothy Lamour.

Not since "Jesse James" has Tyrone had a part like this, and never in his career has he given such a great performance. And lovely Lamour reveals her true allure for the first time as "Lucky" Dubarry, the night club entertainer who falls hard for "Johnny Apollo."

Finland Pays Again

BRISTOL THEATRE

Six-guns blaze, hoof beats drum along the prairie and frontier justice prevails again as Clarence E. Mulford's celebrated cowboy character, "Hopalong" Cassidy, rides to high adventure and romance in his latest motion picture, "The Showdown," which opens today at the Bristol Theatre.

And, where it was mostly the machinations of cattle rustlers, train robbers and all around bad men of the West who called "Hoppy" to the saddle in his previous action dramas, it's horse thieves in "The Showdown."

FILLING FILLIP FOR CAKE

Give your favorite white cake a new lease on life by spreading this delicious new filling luxuriously between its velvety layers. Canned strained pears and pineapple are the reason for its rare blend of refreshing fruit flavors, and this convenient combination of strained fruit saves you the trouble of stirring and sieving. Though these canned strained fruits were originally intended as food for the baby, the several different kinds of them come in handy for making a variety of attractive desserts.

Pineapple Custard Filling For Cake
Mix thoroughly in top part of double boiler—

½ cup cake flour
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt.

Add—
1 4½-oz. can strained pears and pineapple or—

1 4½-oz. can strained apricots and apple sauce.

Add—
3 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup orange juice
2 eggs, well beaten.
Mix well, then cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from heat and add one tablespoon butter. Chill. Spread between two thin layers of white cake. Garnish top of cake with a generous sprinkling of powdered sugar.

TWO-IN-ONE RECIPE

There's always something new and delicious in ice cream toppings to use in making sundaes you can serve at home. This time it's caramel-flavored Rice Flake Crunch made by pouring a rich syrup over crispy, crunchy rice flakes. You'll like this fine confection, too, when it plays the role of favors for a children's party. Just turn some of the delectable crumbles into cellophane bags and they will be greeted with squeals of delight!

Rice Flake Crunch

Put in a lightly buttered bowl—
2 cups rice flakes.

Melt together in skillet—
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup light brown sugar, packed.

Stir constantly over medium heat until thick syrup is formed. Pour syrup over rice flakes, stirring immediately to coat the rice flakes with the syrup. Then spread out in a thin layer on a flat tray or cookie sheet to cool. Break in small pieces to serve over ice cream or to eat as candy. This keeps crunchy for several days.

TOMATO TIE-UPS

Many are the uses of tomato juice in the warm-day scheme of things. When it makes its appearance at breakfast, the piquant quality of this taste-teasing beverage promises a fine day ahead. A frosty glass at noon revives the spirit; and passed along with dainty sandwiches during the mid-afternoon lull, this sprightly refreshment is the symbol of your most gracious hospitality.

Again at night you'll like tomato juice as a scintillating cocktail to help create enthusiasm for dinner. Serving it so often, you will want to add unusual touches to the tomato juice for the sake of variety. These are simple mergers to make, as you will see:

Tomato and Celery

Stir one-fourth teaspoon celery salt into a 12-oz. can of tomato juice.

Tomato and Horse-radish

Soak one-half teaspoon evaporated horse-radish in one-half teaspoon water, then stir into a 12-oz. can tomato juice.

Tomato and Mustard

Add one teaspoon prepared brown or yellow mustard to a 12-oz. can tomato juice and stir well.

Tomato and Worcestershire Sauce
Mix together one 12-oz. can tomato juice and one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Tomato and Beefsteak Sauce
Stir two teaspoons beefsteak sauce into one 12-oz. can tomato juice.

ANDALUSIA

LANDRETH NINE GOES ON HITTING SPREE; SCORES 28 RUNS

Farmers Defeat East Germantown Republican Club by Score of 28 to 11

PLAY 5½ INNINGS

Visitors Use Five Pitchers In Endeavor To Stop The Farmers

Landreth Seeds went on a hitting spree last night against the East Germantown Republican Club at Landreth Ball Park and established a scoring record which will stand for some time, defeating the visitors' 28 runs to 11 in a 5½ inning game.

The visitors used five pitchers in their endeavor to stop the Farmers' heavy hitting. Twenty hits were made for a total of thirty-seven bases. Johnnie Miksis set the pace with four hits—two home runs, a double and a single and a base on balls and counted five runs and drove in six, followed by Eddie Liberatore who drove in five runs, made four hits—two for extra bases—and scored five markers.

The visitors teed off with two runs in the first inning on four singles, but Landreth's came back with four runs to take the lead in their half of the inning. Rockhill opened with a triple to right field, Liberatore scoring him with a double down the left field marker. Miksis walked and Breslin lined a home run into right field to score three more.

Schulp's single off Bricker's glove, Pearce's triple and a fly to the outfield tallied two for Germantown in the second inning and allowed them to even the score.

Eight runs were counted by the Seeds in their half of the inning. Comerford was replaced on the mound by Quinn and the latter after pitching to two batters was relieved by Weinrath. Johnson took Weinrath's place in the fourth. Green pitched the fifth inning, Johnson playing first base.

Landreth will play the Riegel Ridge, N. J. team of the Bi-County League Saturday at Landreth Park at three o'clock.

CROYDON Y. M. A. TEAM INCREASES ITS LEAD

CROYDON, June 21—"Henny" Morgan's Croydon Y. M. A. team increased its lead in the Bristol Suburban League to three full games by trouncing the second-place St. Luke's nine, 11-1, on the field at State Road and Second Avenue.

The Y's bunched their hits in the third and fourth cantoes to score most of their tallies. The winners had a total of thirteen hits and eight came in these two frames.

Finding his batting eye after quite a layoff, "Jock" McCue hit the house-side hard last evening when he crashed out a triple and three singles in four trips to the plate. "Glee" Dougherty had two out of two, and Nick Palumbo got two out of three.

It was a tough victory for Lloyd McGinley. Lloyd stepped up to the plate four times and three times he was hit with a pitched ball. The three St. Luke's pitchers, Woolvin, Leighton and Kratz took a crack at McGinley.

FRANKLIN A. C. WINS

With "Vince" Mastriana hurling fine ball, the Franklin A. C. softball team stretched its winning streak to six straight when it beat the Ashbury A. C. of Trenton, 10-3, last evening on Leedom's field.

IS STILL THE WORLD'S CHAMPION

The "Old" Joe Louis, the "butcher" of the prize ring, came back last night in New York. In methodical, cold-blooded fashion, he took revenge on Arturo Godoy, the Chilean, who hurt his pride by lasting 15 rounds with him last February. For seven rounds he carved the South American's face apart, punching with as much devastation as he has ever shown, and then, in the eighth, he ended it.

KING SUPPLY DEFEATS TULLYTOWN NINE, 14-7

TULLYTOWN, June 21—The King Supply team made it 31 runs in two nights by whipping the Tullytown nine, 14-7, last night on the Bristol Pike field. Wednesday night, King scored a 17-5 triumph over Tullytown. The defeat put Tullytown in the cellar of the Bristol Suburban League.

Fourteen hits were made by the King batters, all came off the hurling of "Ice" Watson. Frankie Moylan pitched for King and hurled his third victory in a row. Frankie also led the stickers of the night, getting a double and three singles in stepping to the plate four times.

Charlie Irig, of Tullytown, slammed a home run with a runner on base in the second inning. King Supply put the game on ice in the third by counting five times.

DI RENZO TEAM MAKES IT FOUR IN A ROW

Defeating Madison, 11-2, on Grundy's field, the Di Renzo team made it four in a row in the Bristol Suburban League.

Danny Pieo, backstop for the winners, had a good night with the stick, getting three out of four. The losing hurler, Johnny Jones, allowed thirteen hits.

The losing aggregation made but three hits off the pitching of "Jerry" Cicanti.

HE WENT DOWN TO DEFEAT

Godoy's face looked like a barbequed beef. Louis laid his left eye open early in the first round, and from there the blood poured out. At the end, the crimson coated not only Godoy, but Louis, the referee and much of the canvas. Godoy's eye was gashed top and bottom. His nose was a soft pulp. And the 'only' damage to Louis was a scratch behind his left ear.

MANY ENTRIES FOR WATER CARNIVAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Knights of Columbus To Stage Event As Part of 36th Anniversary Celebration

INVITE JOHNNY MACIONIS

Member of U. S. 800-Meter Relay Team May Be Here On Saturday

According to the list of entries, the water carnival being sponsored by the Knights of Columbus promises to be one of the best ever held here. The affair is being held in conjunction with the celebration of the 36th anniversary of the founding of the Bristol Council of Knights of Columbus.

According to Jack Gavegan, chairman of the committee, he has received applications from many Philadelphia Councils as well as several high schools and one college. Several independent swimming teams will be present. The Trenton Aquadons, Philadelphia Squires, Broadwood A. C. Rider College, and Gloucester are some of the teams which will be represented.

An invitation has been issued to Johnny Macionis, a member of the United States 800 meter relay team, to give an exhibition.

All swimmers in this area are invited to participate in the "open" events. According to Gavegan the following events will be held:

Event No. 1—Open only to members of the Knights of Columbus or Columbian Squires: 50-yard and 100-yard free style; 100-yard breaststroke; 100-yard backstroke, and diving contest.

Event No. 2—Canoe tilting event. Open to all comers, with Al Bauer in charge.

Event No. 3—Open only to male residents of Bristol: 50-yard free style; 100-yard free style, and diving.

Event No. 4—Open to all swimmers: 50-yard free style; 100-yard free style; 200-yard free style; 100-yard backstroke; and diving contest.

All events will be started from a yacht and the finish line will be stretched from the Knights of Columbus float to another yacht parallel with the float.

Arrangements are being made to handle the large crowd which is expected to watch the affair.

If any Bristol swimmer has failed to send in his application for any of the open events, he may do so by contacting Gavegan at the Knights of Columbus home.

RIEGEL RIDGE CLUB TO PLAY LANDRETH NINE

TOMORROW afternoon the Riegel Ridge baseball club, of Milford, N. J., will be the attraction at Landreth Ball Park.

Riegel Ridge was last year's North Jersey Tri-County champions, and was the only team which really gave Landreth's Seeds a lacing during the 1939 campaign. Riegel Ridge has a large athletic association and a fine ball park with covered grandstand and bleachers, and the team is certainly worthy of the fine field on which it plays.

A series of games has been arranged between these two clubs, and the first will be played tomorrow at Landreth Ball Park, and it should be a good contest, for Riegel Ridge for many years has had a fast, hard-hitting ball club.

Manager Helms will start Weiss in the box, with Andy Hutnick behind the plate. For the "Farmers," Howard Black will be on the slab when the game starts at three p. m.
